Cons. None. Info updated on: Jan 16, 2021. I was at the draft on Monday and the Seahawks passed on him. From what I've heard, I think I know what they have in mind for B.J. McCall. I look forward to seeing it. Anyway, I did a little experimenting with the game and how it would have played out if Seattle had selected James Carpenter instead. Detroit - no more than 20 points in the first quarter? No. Green Bay - I know Mike McCarthy said a week and a half ago that the Packers weren't going to score more than 23 points per game, but when you're only down 4 at home and the team's best player is injured and you're preparing to take on a Seahawks defense that will be coming off a terrible game (27 points allowed in Detroit), you should score at least 26. Also, Aaron Rodgers would have been in on the tackle of Marshawn Lynch's 74-yard run in the 2nd quarter. New York - no more than 17 points in the first half? No. Arizona - no more than 22 points? No. St. Louis - no more than 13 points in the first half? No. San Francisco - only 9 points in the first quarter? No. Atlanta - only 10 points? No. Atlanta - only 17 points? No. 6d1f23a050
